Professional Experience

Dr. He Dongmin, a Partner at Jincheng Tongda & Neal Law Firm, holds a Ph.D. in International Economic Law from China University of Political Science and Law. With a robust theoretical foundation and extensive practical experience in corporate governance, Dr. He excels in providing legal services, ranging from equity structure design to risk management in investment and financing. His expertise extends to compliance system construction and legal support for diverse commercial transactions, bidding processes, and negotiations.

As a legal advisor, Dr. He caters to a diverse array of enterprises, including central enterprises, state-owned entities, listed companies, and multinational corporations in industries like finance, insurance, mining, telecommunications, healthcare, real estate, hotels, the internet and new technologies.

Specializing in commercial disputes, labor disputes, international disputes, international investment arbitration, and sports arbitration, Dr. He possesses a wealth of experience in socially impactful dispute resolution cases. His proficiency lies in proposing creative and decisive legal strategies in complex cases, resulting in groundbreaking victories for clients.

In a notable case involving a pledge of mineral assets repurchase contract, Dr. He represented a state-owned enterprise in retrial proceedings before the Supreme Court, securing a comprehensive victory. Similarly, in a shareholder qualification confirmation case, he played a pivotal role in assisting a leading cloud computing company, which was on the verge of listing, in countering a shareholder's equity challenge. This intervention effectively removed the final hurdle before the company's IPO, facilitating a successful listing on the Beijing Stock Exchange. Additionally, in a corporate control dispute, Dr. He assisted a listed company's founding shareholder in overcoming opposition, successfully restructuring the board of directors, and regaining control.

With an exceptionally high success rate, Dr. He is highly recommended by colleagues, frequently representing clients in major, challenging, and complex cases, consistently delivering satisfactory litigation outcomes.

Recognized as an expert in resolving intricate civil and commercial disputes, Dr. He has been invited by the internationally renowned legal service platform Lexology to lead the Complex Commercial Litigation section and collaborate on the M&A Litigation section. Through Lexology, he shares practical experiences from mainland China with over 730,000 legal professionals around the globe.
